

A black and white photograph of a traditional thatched-roof structure, possibly a market stall or a small shop. The roof is made of long, thin, light-colored material, likely straw or reeds, and is conical in shape. A banner is draped across the front of the structure, featuring the text "ТОРГОВА СЛОБОДА" in bold, black, Cyrillic letters. The banner is held up by two wooden posts. The background shows some trees and foliage, suggesting an outdoor setting. The overall appearance is rustic and traditional.
